

Heritage Foundation Scripts

Begin time: January 30 at 1:00 pm CT.

Hello this is Jessica from the Heritage Foundation. We are currently conducting a live, toll-free teleconference with Heritage members across the country. Today we'll be talking about what we anticipate President Trump will cover in tonight's state of the union address. With me today are Heritage President Kay Cole James, and Editor in Chief of the Daily Signal Rob Louie. We want to hear from you. All you need to do is press star 3 to ask a question or express your concerns. I encourage you to join our call. To take part please stay on the line and we'll automatically connect you to our live teleconference. If you have any questions or feedback after the call, please call our toll-free membership line at 8005462843. Thank you and have a great day.

Hello this is Jessica from the Heritage Foundation. We are currently conducting a live, toll-free teleconference with Heritage members across the country. We'll have Heritage President Kay Cole James and Editor in Chief of the Daily Signal Rob Louie joining us on this call. They'll be discussing tonight's state of the union address and what we anticipate President Trump to address. We want to hear from you and will be taking as many questions as we have time for. I'm sorry that we missed you. You can also listen online by going to myheritage.org. The call will be posted by the end of the week. If you have any questions, please contact us at our toll-free membership line at 18005462843. If you would like information on what Heritage is doing, please visit our website myheritage.org or our main website heritage.org. Thank you and have a great day.