

Cox Communications Inc. (“Cox”) is a broadband communications and entertainment company, providing advanced digital video, high-speed Internet, telephone and home security and automation services over its own nationwide Internet Protocol network. Cox is the largest private broadband provider in the United States and serves over 6 million residences and businesses. Cox Business is a facilities-based provider of voice, video, data and security solutions for commercial customers, and Cox Media is a full-service provider of national and local cable spot and new media advertising.

Cox’s business strategy is to leverage the capacity and capability of its nationwide IP network to deliver an array of services to consumers and businesses while creating multiple revenue streams. Cox believes that its investments in the technological capabilities of its nationwide IP network, the long-term advantages of clustering, the competitive value of bundled services and its commitment to customer care and community service enhance its ability to increase revenues.

Cox is a wholly owned subsidiary of Atlanta-based Cox Enterprises Inc. (“CEI”), a leading communications and automotive services company. In addition to Cox, CEI’s other major operating subsidiary is Cox Automotive, a leading global provider of vehicle remarketing services and digital marketing and software solutions for automotive dealers and consumers.

Business Overview

As a privately held organization, Cox Communications does not publish its financial statements; however, Cox proudly continues to reinvest in infrastructure to support future growth. Over the last decade, Cox Business has made continuous infrastructure updates and will continue to do so to ensure the company is providing the best products and services to its customers. Cox continues to grow and remain profitable in the ever-evolving economic landscape.

Additionally, Cox maintains investment grade debt based on a number of factors considered by the rating agencies, such as, profitability, cash flow, total debt outstanding, interest requirements, liquidity needs and availability of liquidity. Refer to the respective websites for specific ratings information at www.moodys.com, www.standardandpoors.com and www.fitchratings.com.

Internal Controls

Cox management believes that operating as a private company allows Cox to take the most decisive actions as it faces an increasingly competitive environment. Although a private company, Cox continues to maintain a robust control environment. Cox's Internal Controls Governance group is responsible for documenting the risks to the business and ensuring those risks are appropriately mitigated by developing and maintaining an internal controls matrix and performing periodic testing of these controls. Cox's consolidated financial statements are audited annually by its external audit firm, Deloitte & Touche LLP.
