

Denise Natali-Paine

Vice President, Cox Business Omaha

As the vice president of Cox Business Omaha, Denise Natali-Paine is responsible for commercial service including sales, service delivery, assurance and customer support across the Omaha commercial market.

Denise has more than 25 years of experience in the commercial technology, digital strategy and cable industries—specifically in technology, organizational leadership, strategy and telecommunications/cable sales. She has led companies through transformation with a clear understanding of business drivers and organizational imperatives.

Denise holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in International Affairs from Lafayette College as well as graduate studies with the University of Edinburgh (Heriot Watt) and advance studies with the Department of Defense. She is a national award-winning cartoonist and active volunteer for several veteran, hospice, equine and mentoring organizations. She is an avid equestrian, hiker and dog mom. Denise and her husband reside in Omaha.

Kristin Peck

Vice President, Public Affairs

Kristin Peck oversees strategic initiatives to drive growth of the business across six states, including Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Idaho. She oversees corporate social responsibility and community engagement, employee engagement and culture initiatives, issues and message management and all internal and external communications.

Prior to joining Cox in 2001 as director of public affairs in Kansas, Kristin served as the Public Information Officer for the City of Wichita and as a reporter and news anchor for KNSS in Wichita.

Kristin is a graduate of Wichita State University and holds a bachelor's degree in journalism. She is also a graduate of the Betsy Magness Leadership Institute at the Center for Creative Leadership. She serves as board chair for the State Chamber of Oklahoma and is a member of the board of trustees for the Oklahoma City Bombing Memorial and Museum. Kristin lives in Edmond with her husband, Jon, and has two sons, OSU freshman Logan and OU senior Jamie. She loves to travel with her family and spend time outdoors.

Len Pitcock

Vice President, Government Affairs

Len Pitcock is the vice-president of government affairs for Cox Communications with responsibilities across the six state Central Region. In this role, he directs the company's regional public policy efforts, lobbying activities and negotiation of franchise and pole attachment agreements. Prior to his role at Cox, he managed one of the largest lobbying firms in Arkansas and served as executive director of the Arkansas Cable Telecommunications Association.

Len has served on the boards of numerous state cable associations, the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce and has testified before Congress on broadband policy on two different occasions. He is a graduate of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science. Prior to his career in telecommunications, Len worked in television newsrooms across the state and served as a spokesperson and legislative director for the state's wildlife management agency.

Len and his wife, Kathleen, live in Hot Springs, Arkansas and have one son who attends the University of Arkansas.
